

Funding Your Post-Secondary education

ECHS Guidance 2020/2021

Funding Your Post-secondary education:

The cost of post-secondary education continues to increase. Consider the sample costs below:

Typical University - undergrad program (e.g. Laurier University) – tuition and student fees $7,983.32 plus books and supplies (up to $1000.00). (This does not include parking ($339.05), residence, meals, etc.) (Some programs such as engineering will have higher tuition fees.)

Redeemer - tuition $9,800 (two years ago it was $16,792.00), residence and food 8548.00 (could be higher depending on the food plan you purchase), student fees $621.00, plus books and supplies.

Covenant Canadian Reformed Teacher's College – tuition $7703.00, textbooks $650 - $750 for year. This does not include transportation or living expenses.

Typical College- (e.g. Conestoga College: Architecture - Construction Engineering Technology) tuition $4073.66 (will depend on program) – this includes most ancillary fees including student's fees, but does not include books and supplies or parking/transportation.

Many programs, particularly professional and post-diploma programs may be even more costly. (For example, Conestoga's Nursing Degree program costs $7658.82) (This does not include parking, residence, meals)

Program fees, parking, supplies, and housing add to these costs.

Don't forget that there are books and various other supplies to buy which can cost $1200.00.

So, the question arises, how will I pay for all this?

Most students fund their education through a combination of the following:

- a. personal savings and part-time employment;
- b. family resources and support;
- c. government sponsored student loans and grant (OSAP)
- d. student loans offered by banks, credit unions, and other financial institutions;
- e. scholarships, awards, and bursaries

Obviously, students need to do a lot of RESEARCH!

- You need to check the calendars of the schools you hope to attend.
- You need to keep checking the guidance office for scholarship postings and listen for announcements.
- You should check with parent's employers, customers, suppliers, insurance companies, etc. Many offer scholarships!
- You should check with local community organizations and corporations.
- You should try a web-based scholarship search like www.studentawards.com or www.scholarshipscanada.com
- You should visit a library for titles on scholarships and funding strategies (e.g. How to go to College almost for Free, the Scholarship Almanac, and Scholarship: tenth edition).

Let's take a closer look at a few financial sources:

A. Student Grants/Loans

OSAP (Ontario Student Assistance Program) is a provincially governed umbrella program which offers need based assistance in the form of grants, loans, and scholarships to Ontario residents. OSAP can be taken out of province. Loans are generally interest free until graduation. Application can be made on-line or on paper. Applications must be made at least ten weeks prior to the start of the chosen academic program. Colleges and Universities are now advising all students to apply for OSAP if there is a need, because this also helps for scholarship applications.

B. Scholarships

1. Entrance Scholarships - offered specifically by the institution to which you have applied. Many awards do not require a separate application. Some schools do require a separate application for some of their more prestigious scholarships.
2. External Scholarships - offered by community organizations, philanthropic foundations, professional groups, and corporations. A sample list appears below. All of these require a separate application and supporting documentation. Deadlines vary.
3. Government Scholarships and Awards - awarded by a government body. Awards like the Queen Elizabeth II Reaching for the Top Scholarship are academic awards, but the amount is based on financial need. Application to this scholarship is made through the OSAP application.

Remember, almost every post-secondary institution offers some kind of entrance award to qualified students. Many of these do not require a separate application, but many of the "big" ones do require an application, references, resumes, or essays. Don't leave it to the last minute.

However: Be Scam Savvy!

Be wary of scholarship scams. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is! Here are a few common examples:

1. Sketchy free seminars: Although some hosting organizations are legitimate, a number are disguised sales pitches for fee-based scholarship searches or high-interest-rate loans.
2. Fee-based scholarship searches - Be wary if an organization asks for an up-front fee for scholarship matching/searching services.

3. Scholarships requiring an application fee - These people are making a huge profit from your chance to win. There are thousands of legitimate scholarships available each year that don't cost anything for you to apply!
4. Random scholarship prize - Be careful if someone contacts you and says you've won a scholarship for which you never applied. And if these organizations request a redemption fee or bank account information to hold your scholarship money, exercise extreme caution and contact the authorities.
